ABOUT YOSHIDA POTTERY

Yoshida Pottery, led by Masakazu Yoshida, and AMI Patisserie, founded by Chef Makoto Arami, bring together two masters of their crafts. With over 13 years of experience at the historic Asahiya kiln, Yoshida blends traditional Japanese ceramics with his modern vision, crafting pieces that elevate everyday dining.

Chef Arami, a third-generation pastry chef trained at the prestigious Tsuji Culinary Institute and Michelin-starred kitchens, seamlessly combines Japanese ingredients with refined pastry techniques to create exquisite confections. Together, they have collaborated to produce a new collection that merges art and dining, showcasing the harmony between pottery and culinary presentation.

ABOUT AMI PÂTISSERIE

AMI Patisserie is the creation of Chef Makoto Arami, a third-generation pastry chef with roots in both traditional Japanese sweets and Western-style desserts.

Trained at the prestigious Tsuji Culinary Institute and honed in Michelin-starred kitchens, Chef Arami seamlessly blends Japanese ingredients with refined pastry techniques to create exquisite, nature-inspired confections. Each creation reflects his dedication to craft, celebrating the delicate balance of flavor, artistry, and cultural heritage.
